We condemn the genocide of the defenseless people of Darfur

Press release
November 28, 2006

The brutal attacks against the people of Darfur and the killing of innocent people carried out by the Islamic regime and the Arab Janjaweed militia are continuing in a very inhuman manner. The murders and persecutions are obvious, and are confirmed by reports from the United Nations, Human Rights Watch, and other humanitarian organizations. The international community is doing nothing to stop these atrocities. There can be no excuse for this passivity while the entire world witnesses the crime of genocide in Darfur.

We, The Center of Halabja against Anfalization and genocide of the Kurds (CHAK), condemn the tacit support of the Muslim countries toward the genocide against the Muslim people of Darfur, and we ask them to press the Sudanese Islamic government to stop helping the Janjaweed in this violence and to allow international troops to intervene and rescue the targeted victims.

The people of Darfur needs immediate help; therefore we ask the nations of the world and their citizens to react and to open their eyes to this slaughter.

We ask the international community and the UN to make a humanitarian intervention. Do not wait any longer! It is the duty of the international community to stop further killings. Rescue the people of Darfur from annihilation and enable lasting peace in the region.
